Hi Nalina,
I don't believe that this is an IVR issue as it appears that your web service is still not sending all the data back in that case or there may be an issue with your reversal process. I see that the last call to the IVR you used the same contract account for the account you used in SOAPUI, therefore it is possible that it did not reset correctly. Can you confirm your reset process works correctly, a bit laborious but it is the only way I can see that we can confirm this is correctly functioning? Therefore I would suggest that you test an account via SOAPUI, perform the reset on the same account, retest on SOAPUI, perform the reset once again and then try the same account via the IVR.

If you get an issue then provide me the time of the test call made via the IVR and contract account number and I will review the logs once more. If you also provide me with an additional contract account number ready for a read I will also test from SOAPUi using the IVR request structure to determine if we have an issue. In the interim, whilst I am on holiday, you could intercept the IVR request and present it to your web service via SOAPUI instead of the IVR interface to check this prior to my return.

For info, the IVR logs show that none of the calls that were made via the IVR yesterday had a full response back from the web service, all returned validationReturncode 0, updateReturnCode 11 only, therefore I don't believe the issue is with the IVR code or request.
If there was an issue with the IVR SOAP request I would have expected a different error response or error message etc.

Regards
Richard

Hi Richard,

Enter read testing is really complex. We need to prepare a data carefully before execution.
Once we get a success message, means bill is generated, meter read is updated in the system etc.

If we have to use the same set of data again, then the whole billing and meter reading entered has to be reversed, otherwise it fails.

I don't think any changes are done in this web service.

@ Rashmi - Please confirm if there has been any changes made in end point or web service of INT-024.

Hi Nalina,
It appears that there is something amiss, for the last call in the IVR@ 17:23, in the response to the IVR from the Web service we are still missing the elements and when I test from SOAPUI I don't receive them either. Is the meter read submission truly successful? In both my responses I see, IVR and SOAPUI, one returnCode is stating success yet the other is stating error.
Have you changed the endpoint or web service in some way? Screenshot from my SOAPUI test attached.

SOAP request and response from the IVR:-
